Ragdale Hall voted Best Spa in Europe!

Multi-award winning Leicestershire health spa, Ragdale Hall are celebrating their most prestigious accolade yet. They have been voted:

Best European Destination Spa In the Professional Beauty Awards 2007

After winning the UK Destination Spa Award five times in eight years (1999-2006), Ragdale were informed – just prior to the judging process, that the UK and Europe were to be amalgamated into one category this year.

Many, many previous visitors to the spa voted and when the shortlist of finalists was announced, Ragdale were amazed to be the only UK spa included. The other finalists were the Aphrodite Hills in Cyprus and the La Prairie Spa in Switzerland.

A panel of three independent industry experts then visited each of the finalists to assess them according to set criteria.

A party of staff and managers from Ragdale collected this coveted award at a glittering event in London last week.

Ragdale Hall's owner Michael Isaacs commented "We are extremely proud to receive this amazing accolade. This award belongs to each and every one of our exceptional team who work so tirelessly and cheerfully to make Ragdale a truly relaxing and pampering haven for our guests. It is the effort that each member of staff puts in each and every day, that makes guests want to return time after time. Their commitment and pride in their work has been the main contributing factor to us winning this award."
